Go To the Polls and Do Your Duty

(AN EDITORIAL.)

The people of Circleville are on the eve of an important event. An event that means much for the advancement of the good old town and equally as much for the welfare of the citizens. We refer to the primaries which are scheduled for Tuesday, August 13.

The great State of Ohio has set aside this date that the great dominant and other parties may make their selections of candidates to be voted upon at the November elections. It is like the horseman preparing his promising record breakers for the handicap. If there is any defect, there is time to remedy and all the good and the bad is liable to come out before the great final race is held in the early fall.

A primary is most important. In fact some seem to think it is more important than the general election for at these primaries you have the privilege of a greater selection and a chance to choose the best of the party candidates to which you are affiliated.

Do not fail to go to the polls simply because there is not much opposition. Give to the candidates presented on the ballots your endorsement or disapproval of their qualifications. That's the way to do it. Study the merits or demerits of each one and then use the judgment with which you are blessed and go away with a feeling that you have done your solemn duty to your country, your state and to your fellowman.

Get out and vote. It's costing the tax payers a neat little sum to give you this privilege and you should not ignore the opportunity. Even though you be on the losing side it is a satisfaction to know that you took part in one of the greatest privileges accorded mankind.

Remember it is Tuesday, August 13, and the polls will receive your ballots any time during the day, from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m., Circleville time.

Republican Split Faced as Approval Of New High Tariff Rate Is Sought

Agricultural Schedule Is As- sured But Industrial Is In Doubt.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—With rumbles of an insurgent revolt threatening a Republican split, administration leaders today faced a tremendous task in winning senatorial approval for the wide-spread increases in industrial and agricultural rates in the new tariff bill.

The agricultural schedule, carrying sharp advances all along the line, will be endorsed in rapid order, since even the insurgents agree that congress must give the farmers greater tariff protection. The similar increases granted in the industrial schedules will run into stiff opposition and a Democratic-insurgent coalition may even rewrite most of them, even though Republican members of the senate finance committee have spent weeks in carefully determining the new rates.

TASK REALIZED

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, warned of the impending Republican revolt. He declared the increases on industrial rates represented a "base betrayal" of the farmer by the Republican party. He argued that, while the farmers were given a "nominal" increase in tariff protection, the far greater increase in protection given to industries would more than continue the old economic inequality between agriculture and industry.

Administration leaders realize the task on their hands. They recall the senate's action in defeating by a single vote Borah's proposal to limit all tariff revision to the agricultural schedule. This limited revision was beaten by a vote of only 38 to 39. A review of that vote reveals thirteen Republicans and 25 Democrats voting against all increases on industrial schedules.

If the coalition can command the same strength once the tariff bill reaches the senate, the fate of the measure will be in doubt—so far as industrial increases are concerned. Totalling the senators voting for a limited reduction with those paired similarly, there would be 46 senators opposing industrial increases—just two short of a majority of the senate. At the same time, such independents as Senators Couzens, Mich., Johnson, Cal., Jones, Wash., McNary, Ore., Republicans and Heflin, Ala., and Steck, Iowa, Democrats, voted for the general revision. Adding but two of these independents to the 46 recorded as opposed to industrial increases, would give the coalition the necessary majority.

Under the circumstances, administration leaders must win over converts from the group that opposed them last June or hold all their own stalwarts in line. Failure to do either will result in sharp reduction of industrial rates.

PAIR ADMITS TWO MURDERS

"Collegiate Bandits" Tell Of Slaying of Druggists In Robberies.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Robert Camy, 18, and Earl Nicholson, 20, who confessed yesterday they were the "collegiate bandits" who killed a druggist, broke down today after hours of questioning and admitted the slaying of a second druggist and the shooting of a watchman in a six months' career as robbers.

The new confession, police said, cleared up the murder of Leon Raymond, Oak Park pharmacist, on June 18.

"I shot him because he looked dangerous," explained Nicholson. When I ordered hands up, he gave us a sharp glance. It was no time for fooling, so I let him have it."

Camy, who said he was a graduate of the New Harmony Ind. high school, admitted the slaying of George Schreiner, shot to death in his drug store by two bare-headed youths in decorated rain-coats.

"I asked him for a bottle of brilliantine," said Camy, "but I got a notion he was going for a gun, so I fired."

The third shooting was that of Joseph Jerry, a night watchman. The pair have been identified by 25 robbery victims.

Police also are holding Mrs. Bertha McKee, 28, and Mrs. Dorothy Allen, 20, who admitted, police declared, that they lived off the proceeds of the robberies.

Dr. Snook Will Save Life, Lawyer Opines

"He Will Never Burn," Rick- etts Declares—Betting Shifts In His Favor.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12 — "Snook will never burn."

In precisely these words this opinion was expressed today by E. O. Ricketts, chief counsel for Dr. James H. Snook, whose trial for the murder of pretty Theora Hix, young co-ed, entered its final phase today. Ricketts made this prediction in commenting on the betting about town on the probable verdict of the jury.

Betting odds on whether Snook can "beat the chair" have shifted somewhat in his favor in the last few days. A week ago everybody seemed to think the former college professor was headed straight for the electric chair. Public sentiment was almost unanimous against him. But since Snook took the stand in his own defense there are many persons willing to wager that he at least succeeds in saving his skin.

That is about all Snook himself hopes for. Any verdict but the one will give him the death penalty will suit him. Just so they don't "burn" him.

RICKETTS CONFIDENT

"I am convinced Dr. Snook will never go to the electric chair," said Ricketts. "Even if he were found guilty of murder in the first degree without any recommendation of mercy there are enough reversible errors in the case to save him from such a fate."

"I look for a disagreement, or a verdict of manslaughter. I am perfectly satisfied with our case as it stands now. We have contended that Snook was insane when the crime was committed, and I am sure that the jury has long since arrived at this conclusion."

The trial is drawing slowly to a close and there is a possibility that the case will go to the jury by mid-week. This is contingent upon how thoroughly the "insanity" issue is gone into. The defense has indicated that its final witnesses will be alienists who are expected to testify that Snook was in an unsound mental condition on the night of June 13, when he hammered and slashed Miss Hix to death.

HEFFNER MAY TESTIFY

Dr. John H. Berry, superintendent of the Athens State hospital, and Dr. G. W. Heffner of Circleville, O. will probably take the stand as defense witnesses. They examined Snook for the defense several weeks ago. When asked concerning Snook's mental condition in a preliminary hearing before Judge Henry L. Scarlett a few weeks ago, Dr. Berry said Snook presented a "peculiar case" and needed more study. This opinion was concurred in by Dr. Heffner.

Attorney Ricketts is of the opinion, he said, that the jury has reached the conclusion that Snook could not have been in his right mind when he killed Miss Hix, or for a considerable period prior to that. He believes that Snook's "Mabel" love missives to Theora, written in the summer of 1927 when she was in Cleveland, will have a marked influence on the jury when they peruse them. The letters are long, rambling, erratic and disconnected communications containing a sprinkling of endearments. In literary value they are far below what might be expected from the pen of a college professor. Ricketts contends that the man could not have been "all there" when he wrote such expressions as "Here's a kiss a la Belmont to hold you until the next letter" and "Here's a diagonal greeting, a little squeeze and a real kiss—high power only."

NEW YORK IS HIT BY QUAKE

Buildings Rocked In Two States By Earth Movement Monday Morning.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Upper New York state and parts of Pennsylvania were rocked by an earthquake shock early today that caused a maximum of excitement and a minimum of damage.

The shock, which was only of moderate intensity, was felt in Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany, Erie, Pa., and smaller towns.

It was first felt in Syracuse. From there, the quake spread out, so to speak, in all directions within a radius of several hundred miles.

Many persons were jarred by the tremor and in several instances buildings were seen to tremble, but damage was negligible.

Seismograph experts at various universities declared the quake began at approximately 6:25.55 a. m. and lasted for approximately 50 seconds.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Severe earth tremors of a minute's duration were felt here at 6:20 a. m. today. A wall of a brick building was cracked and several chimneys were toppled over.

The shock was so severe that it rocked houses and people had difficulty standing up.

DROPS 19,500 FEET WITH PARACHUTE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 12.—A record parachute jump was claimed today by Jimmy Donohue for a leap of 19,500 feet from a monoplane. Donohue drifted three miles and took 19 minutes to land.

Thirty-five thousand persons saw the jump at the closing day of the Pike's Peak air meet.

TESTIMONY OF ALIENISTS IS TO BE ABANDONED

Insanity Plea Dropped In Fa- vor of Self Defense By His Attorneys.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Correspondent)
COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O.

Aug. 12.—The trial of Dr. James H. Snook, slayer of Theora Hix, co-ed beauty, drew toward a close today.

Less than a dozen defense witnesses remained to be heard when court was adjourned, until this afternoon. E. O. Ricketts, chief counsel for defense said the defense may rest late today.

The case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday or Thursday. Decision of the defense to abandon its plan to summon alienists to bolster its contention Snook was "insane" when he hammered and slashed Miss Hix to death has cut the trial at least two days. The defense will concentrate on the plea of self-defense rather than insanity.

ATTORNEYS CLASH

Sharp words were exchanged today when Judge John F. Seidel, one of the attorneys defending Dr. Snook, underwent a severe examination at the hands of Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr. Seidel took the stand and testified that the signed confession of Snook, later repudiated, was obtained under duress.

"You were ordered out of my office when you tried to block my asked Chester.

from questioning, weren't you?" "Yes," replied Seidel.

"You got out didn't you?" "Yes. But you didn't get out. You couldn't get out. You forced, stockily, with a 50, was burning with indignation."

CHANGES HIS MIND

Under further questioning, Prosecutor Chester forced Seidel to admit he had said to newspapermen while Snook was on the verge of his confession:

"If Snook killed this woman, I helped him do it."

Q.—(By Chester).—Have you changed your mind about that, Judge Seidel?

A.—Yes, I did when Dr. Snook told me with his own lips that he killed the girl.

Q.—He lied to you in the first place?

A.—Yes.

Q.—You testified you knew Snook for 20 years. Is that true fact?

A.—Yes.

Q.—When you came to headquarters didn't you turn to one of the detectives and say:

"Which one is Dr. Snook?"

A.—Emphatically no.

Q.—And didn't you go to Snook and say:

"I am Judge Seidel; some of your friends sent me to you to represent you."

A.—I did not.

On direct examination, Seidel testified Prosecutor Chester had extorted to "ruin him" if he failed to induce Snook to confess. He said abusive methods were used in exacting the confession from Snook.

GOLFER TESTIFIES

Charles F. Druggan, an attorney who played golf with Snook the Sunday before Miss Hix was slain, was the next witness. His testimony was designed to support the defense contention that Miss Hix dominated Snook for weeks prior to her death.

Druggan said that while he and Snook were playing, Snook was summoned to the club house to answer to Page 3, Please)

DRIVER AWAKENED BY CRASH OF CARS

Kent McMullen, of the McKrants drug store, was rudely awakened early Monday morning by a series of crashes and when his mind cleared he remembered that he had been riding along Court-st in his Erskine coupe. The crash and impact that opened his eyes was his car hitting the Ford of Gilbert E. Starkey which was parked in front of Brakner's garage.

The Ford was pushed 30 feet from where it stood, and was wrapped securely around the gas pump of the Brakner garage. The back wheels and end were demolished as was the right front side of the McKrants car. The pump was damaged. No one was injured. The accident occurred at 2:30 a. m. Monday.

MISSING BOY'S BODY IS FOUND

Three-Year-Old Lad Believed To Be Victim of Fiendish Ax Weilder.

MILFORD, Conn., Aug. 12.—The body of 3-year-old Albert Mikenas, missing since July 29, was found near here today in a clump of bushes. A deep cleft in the head caused police to believe he had been struck with an ax in the hands of a fiend.

Albert disappeared July 29 at Myrtle Beach, near here, with his mother, Mrs. Katharine Mikenas, 38, of Ansonia, Conn. Mrs. Mikenas left him playing on the sand while she walked to a nearby store. When she returned Albert was gone.

The boy's father, Peter Mikenas, who has been separated from his wife for three years, was taken into custody in the belief he may have abducted the boy but later released.

GIFT SUGGESTION

Paul Helwagen hopes the Democratic voters of Circleville will give him a birthday gift Tuesday. Primary day is also his birthday and he believes that no more fitting or appreciated gift could be given him than the Democratic nomination for city treasurer, which office he now holds.

Dr. Snook Will Save Life, Lawyer Opines

"He Will Never Burn," Ricketts Declares—Betting Shifts In His Favor.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12.—"Snook will never burn."

In precisely these words this opinion was expressed today by E. O. Ricketts, chief counsel for Dr. James H. Snook, whose trial for the murder of pretty Theora Hix, young co-ed, entered its final phases today. Ricketts made this prediction in commenting on the betting about town on the probable verdict of the jury.

Betting odds on whether Snook can "beat the chair" have shifted somewhat in his favor in the last few days. A week ago everybody seemed to think the former college professor was headed straight for the electric chair. Public sentiment was almost unanimous against him. But since Snook took the stand in his own defense there are many persons willing to wager that he at least succeeds in saving his skin.

That is about all Snook himself hopes for. Any verdict but the one will give him the death penalty will suit him. Just so they don't "burn" him.

RICKETTS CONFIDENT

"I am convinced Dr. Snook will never go to the electric chair," said Ricketts. "Even if he were found guilty of murder in the first degree without any recommendation of mercy there are enough reversible errors in the case to save him from such a fate."

"I look for a disagreement, or a verdict of manslaughter. I am perfectly satisfied with our case as it stands now. We have contended that Snook was insane when the crime was committed, and I am sure that the jury has long since arrived at this conclusion."

The trial is drawing slowly to a close and there is a possibility that the case will go to the jury by mid-week. This is contingent upon how thoroughly the "insanity" issue is gone into. The defense has indicated that its final witnesses will be alienists who are expected to testify that Snook was in an unsound mental condition on the night of June 13, when he hammered and slashed Miss Hix to death.

HEFFNER MAY TESTIFY

Dr. John H. Berry, superintendent of the Athens State hospital, and Dr. G. W. Heffner of Circleville, O., will probably take the stand as defense witnesses. They examined Snook for the defense several weeks ago. When asked concerning Snook's mental condition in a preliminary hearing before Judge Henry L. Scarlett a few weeks ago, Dr. Berry said Snook presented a "peculiar case" and needed more study. This opinion was concurred in by Dr. Heffner.

Attorney Ricketts is of the opinion, he said, that the jury has reached the conclusion that Snook could not have been in his right mind when he killed Miss Hix, or for a considerable period prior to that. He believes that Snook's "Mabel" love missives to Theora, written in the summer of 1927 when she was in Cleveland, will have a marked influence on the jury when they peruse them. The letters are long, rambling, erratic and disconnected communications containing a sprinkling of endearments. In literary value they are far below what might be expected from the pen of a college professor. Ricketts contends that the man could not have been "all there" when he wrote such expressions as "Here's a kiss a la Belmont to hold you until the next letter" and "Here's a diagonal greeting, a little squeeze and a real kiss—high power only."

NEW YORK IS HIT BY QUAKE

Buildings Rocked In Two States By Earth Movement Monday Morning.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Upper New York state and parts of Pennsylvania were rocked by an earthquake shock early today that caused a maximum of excitement and a minimum of damage.

The shock, which was only of moderate intensity, was felt in Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany, Erie, Pa., and smaller towns.

It was first felt in Syracuse. From there, the quake spread out, so to speak, in all directions within a radius of several hundred miles.

Many persons were jarred by the tremor and in several instances buildings were seen to tremble, but damage was negligible.

Seismograph experts at various universities declared the quake began at approximately 6:25:55 a. m. and lasted for approximately 50 seconds.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—

(INS.)—Severe earth tremors of a minute's duration were felt here at 6:20 a. m. today. A wall of a brick building was cracked and several chimneys were toppled over.

The shock was so severe that it rocked houses and people had difficulty standing up.

DROPS 19,500 FEET WITH PARACHUTE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 12.—A record parachute jump was claimed today by Jimmy Donohue for a leap of 19,500 feet from a monoplane. Donohue drifted three miles and took 19 minutes to land.

Thirty-five thousand persons saw the jump at the closing day of the Pike's Peak air meet.

TESTIMONY OF ALIENISTS IS TO BE ABANDONED

Insanity Plea Dropped In Favor of Self Defense By His Attorneys.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Correspondent)

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12.—The trial of Dr. James H. Snook, slayer of Theora Hix, co-ed beauty, drew toward a close today.

Less than a dozen defense witnesses remained to be heard when court was adjourned, until 1:30 this afternoon. E. O. Ricketts, chief counsel for defense said the defense may rest late today.

The case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday or Thursday.

Decision of the defense to abandon its plan to summon alienists to bolster its contention Snook was "insane" when he hammered and slashed Miss Hix to death has cut the trial at least two days. The defense will concentrate on the plea of self-defense rather than insanity.

ATTORNEYS CLASH

Sharp words were exchanged today when Judge John F. Seidel, one of the attorneys defending Dr. Snook, underwent a severe cross-examination at the hands of Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr. Seidel took the stand and testified that the signed confession of Snook, later repudiated, was obtained under duress.

"You were ordered out of my office when you tried to block Snook asked Chester.

from confessing, weren't you?" "Yes," replied Seidel.

"You got out didn't you?" "Yes. But you didn't put me out. You couldn't do it" Seidel a florid-faced, stockily-built man of 50, was burning with indignation.

CHANGES HIS MIND

Under further questioning, Prosecutor Chester forced Seidel to admit he had said to newspapermen while Snook was on the verge of his confession:

"If Snook killed this woman, I helped him do it."

Q.—(By Chester).—Have you changed your mind about that, Judge Seidel?

A.—Yes, I did when Dr. Snook told me with his own lips that he killed the girl.

Q.—He lied to you in the first place?

A.—Yes.

Q.—You testified you knew Snook for 20 years. Is that true fact?

A.—Yes.

Q.—When you came to headquarters didn't you turn to one of the detectives and say:

"Which one is Dr. Snook?" A.—Emphatically no.

Q.—And didn't you go to Snook and say: "I am Judge Seidel; some of your friends sent me to you to represent you."

A.—I did not.

On direct examination Seidel testified, Prosecutor Chester threatened to "ruin him" if he failed to induce Snook to confess. He said abusive methods were used in exacting the confession from Snook.

GOLFER TESTIFIES

Charles F. Druggan, an attorney who played golf with Snook the Sunday before Miss Hix was slain, was the next witness. His testimony was designed to support the defense contention that Miss Hix dominated Snook for weeks prior to her death.

Druggan said that while he and Snook were playing, Snook was summoned to the club house to answer (Turn to Page 3, Please)

DRIVER AWAKENED BY CRASH OF CARS

Kent McMullen, of the Mykrantz drug store, was rudely awakened early Monday morning by a series of crashes and when his mind cleared he remembered that he had been riding along Court-st in his Erskine coupe. The crash and impact that opened his eyes was his car hitting the Ford of Gilbert E. Starkey which was parked in front of Brehmer's garage.

The Ford was pushed 30 feet from where it stood, and was wrapped securely around the gas pump of the Brehmer garage. The back wheels and end were demolished as was the right front side of the McMullen car. The pump was damaged. No one was injured. The accident occurred at 2:30 a. m. Monday.

TARIFF BOTHERS G. O. P.

Two months has not sufficed for the Republican membership of the Senate Finance committee to agree on the limit of extortion they dare inflict through the pending tariff bill without passing what they deem to be the political danger line.

In secret—except for the brief lifting of the curtain by Senator Couzens of Michigan, because he found that his colleagues were violating the secrecy pledge in order to let prospective favorites under the schedules know of the decisions being adopted—the Republican members of the committee have been wrestling with the Hawley bill as it came to them from the House. Now it appears that the majority draft of the Smoot-Hawley tariff will be nowhere near ready by Aug. 19 and thereafter the Senate will have to adjourn three days at a time until some time in September, when the high protectionists of various grades think they will have the measure in such shape as to risk letting the Democratic members of the committee know about it.

Senator Smoot's solution of the sugar difficulties by a sliding scale subterfuge, intended to disguise the extent of the assessment of the consumers of sugar to the benefit of the producers, particularly the beet sugar growers, is among the failures of the star chamber sessions. Brought into the open for the first time at a public hearing, it failed to disclose a single supporter, except the Utah Senator, and perhaps President Hoover, whom Mr. Smoot prophesied would accept it as part of the tariff measure.

The beet growers themselves complained that it did not give them all the protection they want. The Western refiners called it a dangerous experiment that might enable their Eastern competitors to manipulate the prices to the disadvantage of the Westerners. American concerns who do their refining in Cuba said it threatened the confiscation of their investment. Others pointed out the obvious truth that, as it sought to fix sugar prices, it was flatly against the supposed principle of government against price-fixing.

Perhaps the most astonishing development of the result of this hearing was the statement printed the next day in some of the New York papers that an official of the government, R. L. Purdon, sugar expert in the Foods Division of the Department of Commerce, had given notice, on the authority of President Hoover and Senator Smoot, that opponents of a tariff increase on sugar must choose between the sliding scale and the three cent per pound rate carried in the Hawley bill—either would take $100,000,000 more away from the consumers than they are now paying.

It developed in the open hearing that advance notice had been given certain sugar interests of what the tariff boosters intended to do. It is perfectly obvious that no Department of Commerce official would have ventured on such an ultimatum as was attributed to Sugar Expert Purdon without the countenance of his superiors, which is another demonstration that the president's declaration of non-interference in legislation had the usual number of strings on it. It had previously been published that the Tariff Commission had been requested to furnish the President with the names of Democratic Senators and Representatives who might have at any time applied to the Commission for increases on the tariff rates of the products of industries of their States.

Nobody seriously believes that President Hoover will veto the Smoot-Hawley bill regardless of its inequities. He wants the modification of the flexible tariff features of the measure and the biggest fight of all will be over these provisions. As they stand in the tentative bill, they represent the most complete surrender of legislative prerogatives to the Executive in our history. In the first place, the bi-partisan character of the Tariff Commission is to be eliminated, thereby making it certain that the President will appoint Commissioners holding his party's views on the tariff. This will permit him to revise the tariff practically at will, and the record of previous Republican administrations indicates that these revisions will be upward on all important schedules. Moreover, the pending bill contemplates a system based on production costs abroad. This is another way of saying that the manufacturers will themselves fix the basis on which tariff duties are levied. And, finally, the Secretary of the Treasury is made the last tribunal for appraisals, whereby neatly putting the Court of Customs Appeals out of business.

A last minute heroic act that saves a passenger train from rushing onto a burning railroad trestle and down into a ravine is a big thrill offered in "Burning Bridges" the melodramatic Western drama that brings Harry Carey to the Met theater for the last time tonight.

Having accepted the guilt of a crime committed by his temporarily insane brother, also played by Carey, the star has been chased to a cliff by the posse. His only avenue of escape is over the brink and he jumps onto a train speeding toward the flaming bridge. Quickly seizing up the danger to the passengers he climbs down and uncouples the engine just as it reached the ravine. This is but one of the many thrills that make "Burning Bridges" a Western feature with dramatic punches intermingled with scenes of romance.

PRINCESS OF PEP
Cheerio—here comes the Princess of Pep again!
"Meaning none other than Alice White, First National Vitaphone star whose latest talking, singing and dancing offering, "Broadway Babies" is at the Clifton theatre.

Miss White is energy and effervescence personified. She has been termed the Apostle of It, the Tired Business Man's joy, and Exhibit A in the exposition of Jazz.

In "Broadway Babies," another story of the Great White Way and life behind the scenes, Miss White has an ideal vehicle for her talents, it is declared. She plays one of a trio of hoofers—the others being Sally Eilers and Marion Byron—who try to lick the Big Town.

Their experiences make up a story that has much interest and will appeal to everyone.

Charles Delaney, who played opposite Miss White in "Show Girl," is again her leading man and the cast includes Bodil Rosing, Louis Natheaux, Maurice Black, Tommy Dugan and others.

SONG STARS STAR

How decidedly a sensational hit may affect the earning power of a theatrical performer is well illustrated by the experience of Fannie Brice, America's favorite singing comedienne who is making her motion picture debut as the star of Warner Bros. Vitaphone production, "My Man" showing at the Grand theatre.

For several years Miss Brice had been featured in Ziegfeld's "Follies," and her salary had assumed proportions that made it look large on the weekly payroll.

Then she sang "My Man."

To say that its success was tremendous is but to put it mildly. The long literally swept the country, and the singer was acclaimed as an artist of remarkable emotional power, who was able to extract every ounce of feeling in the tragic lines. Famous stage producers made bids for her services.

A superlative cast supports the singing star, including Guinn Williams, Edna Murphy, Andre de Segurora, Richard Tucker, Billy Seay, Ann Brody, Arthur Hoyt and Clarissa Selwynne.

Discovery of Vitamine

Vital to Human Race

The greatest discoveries of benefit to the human race have been the result of accident. Columbus, seeking for a short cut to India, stumbled on America. Perkin, searching for a means of producing artificial quinine, hit upon aniline dyes. When Japan and Russia were in the throes of a death struggle for supremacy, Japan's navy was being decimated by beriberi. Laboring to find a preventive for the disease, that was making the Japanese panic-stricken, some one remembered that a Dutch scientist discovered in 1897 that pigeons fed on polished rice developed a disease which had all the characteristics of beriberi. Orders were issued forthwith to stop feeding the sailors with polished rice and to substitute the whole grain; promptly and without delay, the beriberi disappeared. Scientists, in their efforts to discover the "why," as a famous author expressed it, found the missing link that binds food to health, happiness and achievement—they came upon the vitamine. It was this discovery that enables the human family to keep from starving on a full stomach.

Labor and Play

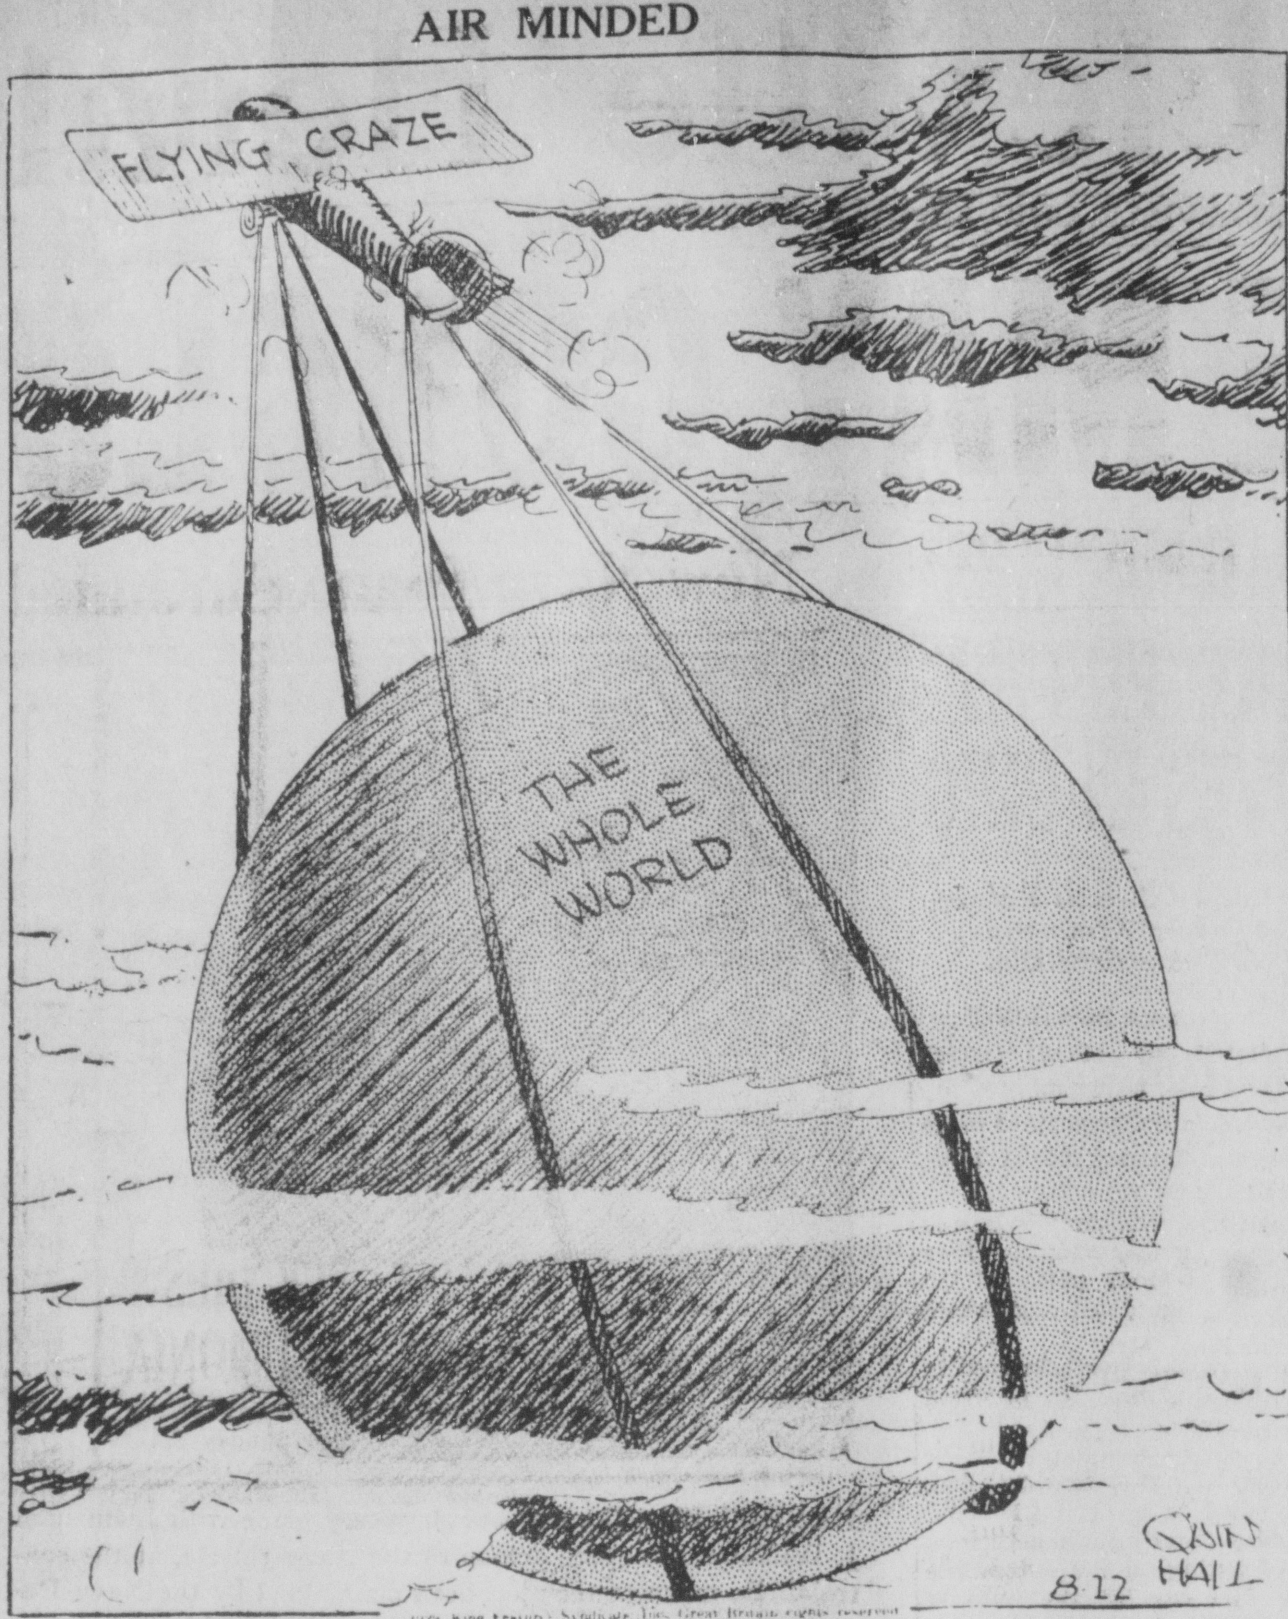

"Dar ain't no such danger of overwork," said Uncle Eben, "as dar is of overplay. We stops de day's labor when de whistle blows; but quibbin' time foh a card game kin be anything up to four o'clock in de mornin'."—Washington Star.

Character Reflected

Remember household management reflects the character of its inhabitants. Especially is this true of its household manager. So take care that your home pictures to your friends and family your ideals.

The Skyscraper Murder

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and, while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work, assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something. As the investigators are standing, after Mrs. Sewell's departure, looking at a mirror door, it opens, and Mrs. Edison appears. She relates a story which the police do not believe. After she leaves, her lawyer threatens Marx with political reprisals if the woman is molested. Then Edison visits the apartment. As he goes out a shot is heard. The Russian butler is found dead and Edison is arrested. Mary Pennell, whose clothes are found in the apartment, is questioned. She identifies the "Paid in Full" note as her uncle's, the Major's handwriting.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII.

NOW the Major's fists were clenched.

"What is it you want?" he barked.

"Something that's exceedingly difficult to obtain in this sad world of ours," said the doctor. "I want the truth."

"If you want it badly enough," said the Major, "you can go down to the District Attorney's office and have me brought down there."

Whereupon the doctor only smiled.

"I don't think you really mean that, Major."

"No."

"No, I don't. Now come, Major," the doctor frankly pleading, "why not tell me the facts in the case? Then you've nothing to fear. Follow the example of your niece, who—"

"What did she say?" demanded the Major quickly.

"She said," the doctor emphasized each word, "that you'd warned her against Sewell."

"Suppose I did?"

"Major," the doctor changed the subject quickly, "what was that receipt for?"

"That was a debt," said the Major.

"I see. Now, Major, I'm going to show you an example in frankness. I believe, Major, that there was something that caused you to hate Sewell as much as any man did. Something that doesn't throw discredit on you."

"What are you driving at?"

"I believe, Major, that you set out to kill Sewell because you thought he'd injured your niece."

"That's bunk," fumed the Major.

"Very well then," said the doctor. "You knew Sewell pretty well. Did you know there was someone living with him?"

"No," replied the Major.

"You did. Now who was that person?"

"I tell you I don't know. Hang it all, I wasn't in Sewell's confidence. I don't know what he was up to."

"You weren't in Sewell's confidence, and yet you were his associate?"

"Yes."

"You had no hatred for Sewell?"

"No."

"And solves the Sewell murder?" suggested the doctor.

"Read it," commanded Marx.

June 6, 1923.

This is the diary of Ivan Stanupin. It has been a long time since I have kept diaries, for the events of the revolution have been astounding, too enormous to permit that easy reflection of the day's happenings that I would indulge in in the days—the happy days—that will never come again.

Once I kept a diary because the recording of the joyousness of life gave it an additional fillip. Now I write because—I really do not know why. Perhaps it is because in the writing I may find an answer to those things that puzzle. Or perhaps it is because I have none to talk to, really to talk to, in confidence, as a friend.

Perhaps, too, when years have passed, I shall want to show this diary, perhaps publish it. For in the months to come many things will happen. Many things must happen. And many in Paris, and not a few in Moscow, will want to know what I have done, and what she has done.

I have not seen her yet. But I know this much: she has assumed the name of the Countess Nina Karasova and seems to be well supplied with money and lovers. This is not unexpected. I believe if she were set down upon a desert island, she would within two days acquire a luxurious home, a generous lover, and money for her precious gambling. Nothing will or can change her.

Today in accordance with my prearranged plan I have entered the employ of Oliver Sewell. Discreet bribery of the agency official accomplished this without much trouble, and apparently Mr. Sewell was pleased with my obsequious manner. I put it on a little thick. He is not a gentleman and to him servility is the quality most desired in servants.

I shall set down here my problems, as simply and concisely as possible. It will help clarify my mind, and at the same time it will serve as a record when and if this diary can be shown to the public.

I first heard of Oliver Sewell in Petrograd. He was stopping at the Europe, our finest hotel, and maintained one of the best suites. Americans were comparatively rare in Russia, and he found no difficulty in obtaining access to the very best circles. He had even been presented at court.

Precisely what his business was I do not know. It was whispered in the cafes that he had come for certain oil concessions in Baku, the exploitation of fields not under the control of the powerful British syndicates. I state this merely as a rumor. As a fact, I know that he has entertained and been entertained by the powerful figures in the Duma, by Djarin, our wealthiest industrialist; by Ruzputin, who then was just beginning to obtain control of the Court, and by many of the socially powerful beauties of the day.

He made very few enemies. Probably it was these who circulated the report that he was an adventurer; that he contemplated gathering his concessions on a show string and then selling out to the highest bidder. Anything was and is possible in Russia.

It is a fact that, to quote the American, he mingled business with pleasure. The decadent circle in Petrograd soon enveloped him. His "conquests" were numerous, if he can speak of conquests in a life of perpetual orgy.

But whatever he came to Russia for, his plans were soon changed by the revolutions. First, the Czar abdicated. Then finally Kerensky took control, and then he was deposed by the Bolsheviks. After the Bolshevik revolution, I came to Petrograd, for the troops had mutinied, and there was no prospect of reorganizing the Eastern front. The collapse was complete. The Germans had swallowed us.

Grammatical Error
A split infinitive is one the integral parts of which have been separated by the introduction of an adverb; for example, "to heartily laugh." Many authorities regard the word "to" as being so much a part of the infinitive that it should not be separated from the word which is introduced by it.

Signifies Beauty
The name "Ruth" is derived from the Hebrew wording meaning "beauty."

The Time Trap
On a 50-mile road in India a motorist is given a timed strip and is forbidden to complete the journey in less than four hours.

Speed of Ostrich
A full-grown male ostrich stands some eight feet high, from the crown of its head to the ground, and weighs about 300 pounds. Its speed, when running "all out," is said to attain 25 miles an hour. At such times it is generally believed to derive no small help from its wings, used as sails.

TARIFF BOTHERS G. O. P.

Two months has not sufficed for the Republican membership of the Senate Finance committee to agree on the limit of extortion they dare inflict through the pending tariff bill without passing what they deem to be the political danger line.

In secret—except for the brief lifting of the curtain by Senator Coughlin of Michigan, because he found that his colleagues were violating the secrecy pledge in order to let prospective favorites under the schedules know of the decisions being adopted—the Republican members of the committee have been wrestling with the Hawley bill as it came to them from the House. Now it appears that the majority draft of the Smoot-Hawley tariff will be nowhere near ready by Aug. 19 and thereafter the Senate will have to adjourn three days at a time until some time in September, when the high protectionists of various grades think they will have the measure in such shape as to risk letting the Democratic members of the committee know about it.

Senator Smoot's solution of the sugar difficulties by a sliding scale subterfuge, intended to disguise the extent of the assessment of the consumers of sugar to the benefit of the producers, particularly the beet sugar growers, is among the failures of the star chamber sessions. Brought into the open for the first time at a public hearing, it failed to disclose a single supporter, except the Utah Senator, and perhaps President Hoover, whom Mr. Smoot prophesied would accept it as part of the tariff measure.

The beet growers themselves complained that it did not give all the protection they wanted. Western refiners called it a dangerous experiment that might enable their Eastern competitors to manipulate the prices to the disadvantage of the Westerners. American concerns who do their refining in Cuba said it threatened the confiscation of their investment. Others pointed out the obvious truth that, as it sought to fix sugar prices, it was flatly against the supposed principle of government against price-fixing.

Perhaps the most astonishing development of the result of this hearing was the statement printed the next day in some of the New York papers that an official of the government, R. L. Purdon, sugar expert in the Foods Division of the Department of Commerce, had given notice, on the authority of President Hoover and Senator Smoot, that opponents of a tariff increase on sugar must choose between the sliding scale and the three cent per pound rate carried in the Hawley bill—either would take $100,000,000 more away from the consumers than they are now paying.

It developed in the open hearing that advance notice had been given certain sugar interests of what the tariff boosters intended to do. It is perfectly obvious that no Department of Commerce official would have ventured on such an ultimatum as was attributed to Sugar Expert Purdon without the countenance of his superiors, which is another demonstration that the president's declaration of non-interference in legislation had the usual number of strings on it. It had previously been published that the Tariff Commission had been requested to furnish the President with the names of Democratic Senators and Representatives who might have at any time applied to the Commission for increases on the tariff rates of the products of industries of their States.

Nobody seriously believes that President Hoover will veto the Smoot-Hawley bill regardless of its intricacies. He wants the modification of the flexible tariff features of the measure and the biggest fight of all will be over these provisions. As they stand in the tentative bill, they represent the most complete surrender of legislative prerogatives to the Executive in our history. In the first place, the bipartisan character of the Tariff Commission is to be eliminated, thereby making it certain that the President will appoint Commissioners holding his party's views on the tariff. This will permit him to revise the tariff practically at will, and the record of previous Republican administrations indicates that these revisions will be upward on all important schedules. Moreover, the pending bill contemplates a system based on production costs abroad. This is another way of saying that the manufacturers will themselves fix the basis on which tariff duties are levied. And, finally, the Secretary of the Treasury is made the last tribunal for appraisals, whereby neatly putting the Court of Customs Appeals out of business.

A last minute heroic act that saves a passenger train from rushing onto a burning railroad trestle and down into a ravine is a big thrill offered in "Burning Bridges" the melodramatic Western drama that brings Harry Carey to the Met theater for the last time tonight.

Having accepted the guilt of a crime committed by his temporarily insane brother, also played by Carey, the star has been chased to a cliff by the posse. His only avenue of escape is over the brink and he jumps onto a train speeding toward the flaming bridge. Quickly sizing up the danger to the passengers he climbs down and uncouples the engine just as it reached the ravine. This is but one of the many thrills that make "Burning Bridges" a Western feature with dramatic punches intermingled with scenes of romance.

PRINCESS OF PEP

Cheerio—here comes the Princess of Pep again!

"Meaning none other than Alice White, First National-Vitaphone star whose latest talking, singing and dancing offering, "Broadway Babies" is at the Cliftona theatre.

Miss White is energy and effervescence personified. She has been termed the Apostle of it, the Tired Business Man's joy, and Exhibit A in the exposition of Jazz.

In "Broadway Babies," another story of the Great White Way and life behind the scenes, Miss White has an ideal vehicle for her talents, it is declared. She plays one of a trio of hoofers—the others being Sally Eilers and Marion Byron—who try to lick the Big Town.

Their experiences make up a story that has much interest and will appeal to everyone.

Charles Delaney, who played opposite Miss White in "Show Girl," is again her leading man and the cast includes Bodil Rosing, Louis Natheaux, Maurice Black, Tommy Dugan and others.

SONG STARS STAR

How decidedly a sensational hit may affect the earning power of a theatrical performer is well illustrated by the experience of Fannie Brice, America's favorite singing comedienne who is making her motion picture debut as the star of Warner Bros. Vitaphone production, "My Man" showing at the Grand theatre.

For several years Miss Brice had been featured in Ziegfeld's "Follies," and her salary had assumed proportions that made it look large on the weekly payroll.

Then she sang "My Man." To say that its success was tremendous is but to put it mildly. The long literally swept the country, and the singer was acclaimed as an artist of remarkable emotional power, who was able to extract every ounce of feeling in the tragic lines. Famous stage producers made bids for her services.

A superlative cast supports the singing star, including Guinn Williams, Edna Murphy, Andre de Segurola, Richard Tucker, Billy Seay, Ann Brody, Arthur Hoyt and Clarissa Selwynne.

Discovery of Vitamine

Vital to Human Race

The greatest discoveries of benefit to the human race have been the result of accident. Columbus, seeking for a short cut to India, stumbled on America. Perkin, searching for a means of producing artificial quinine, hit upon anti-dyes. When Japan was in the throes of a death struggle for supremacy, Japan's navy was being decimated by beriberi. Laboring to find a preventative for the disease, that was making the Japanese panic-stricken, some one remembered that a Dutch scientist discovered in 1897 that pigeons fed on polished rice developed a disease which had all the characteristics of beriberi. Orders were issued forthwith to stop feeding the soldiers with polished rice and to substitute the whole grain; promptly and without delay, the beriberi disappeared. Scientists, in their efforts to discover the "why," as a famous author expressed it, found the missing link that binds food to health, happiness and achievement—they came upon the vitamine. It was this discovery that enables the human family to keep from starving on a full stomach.

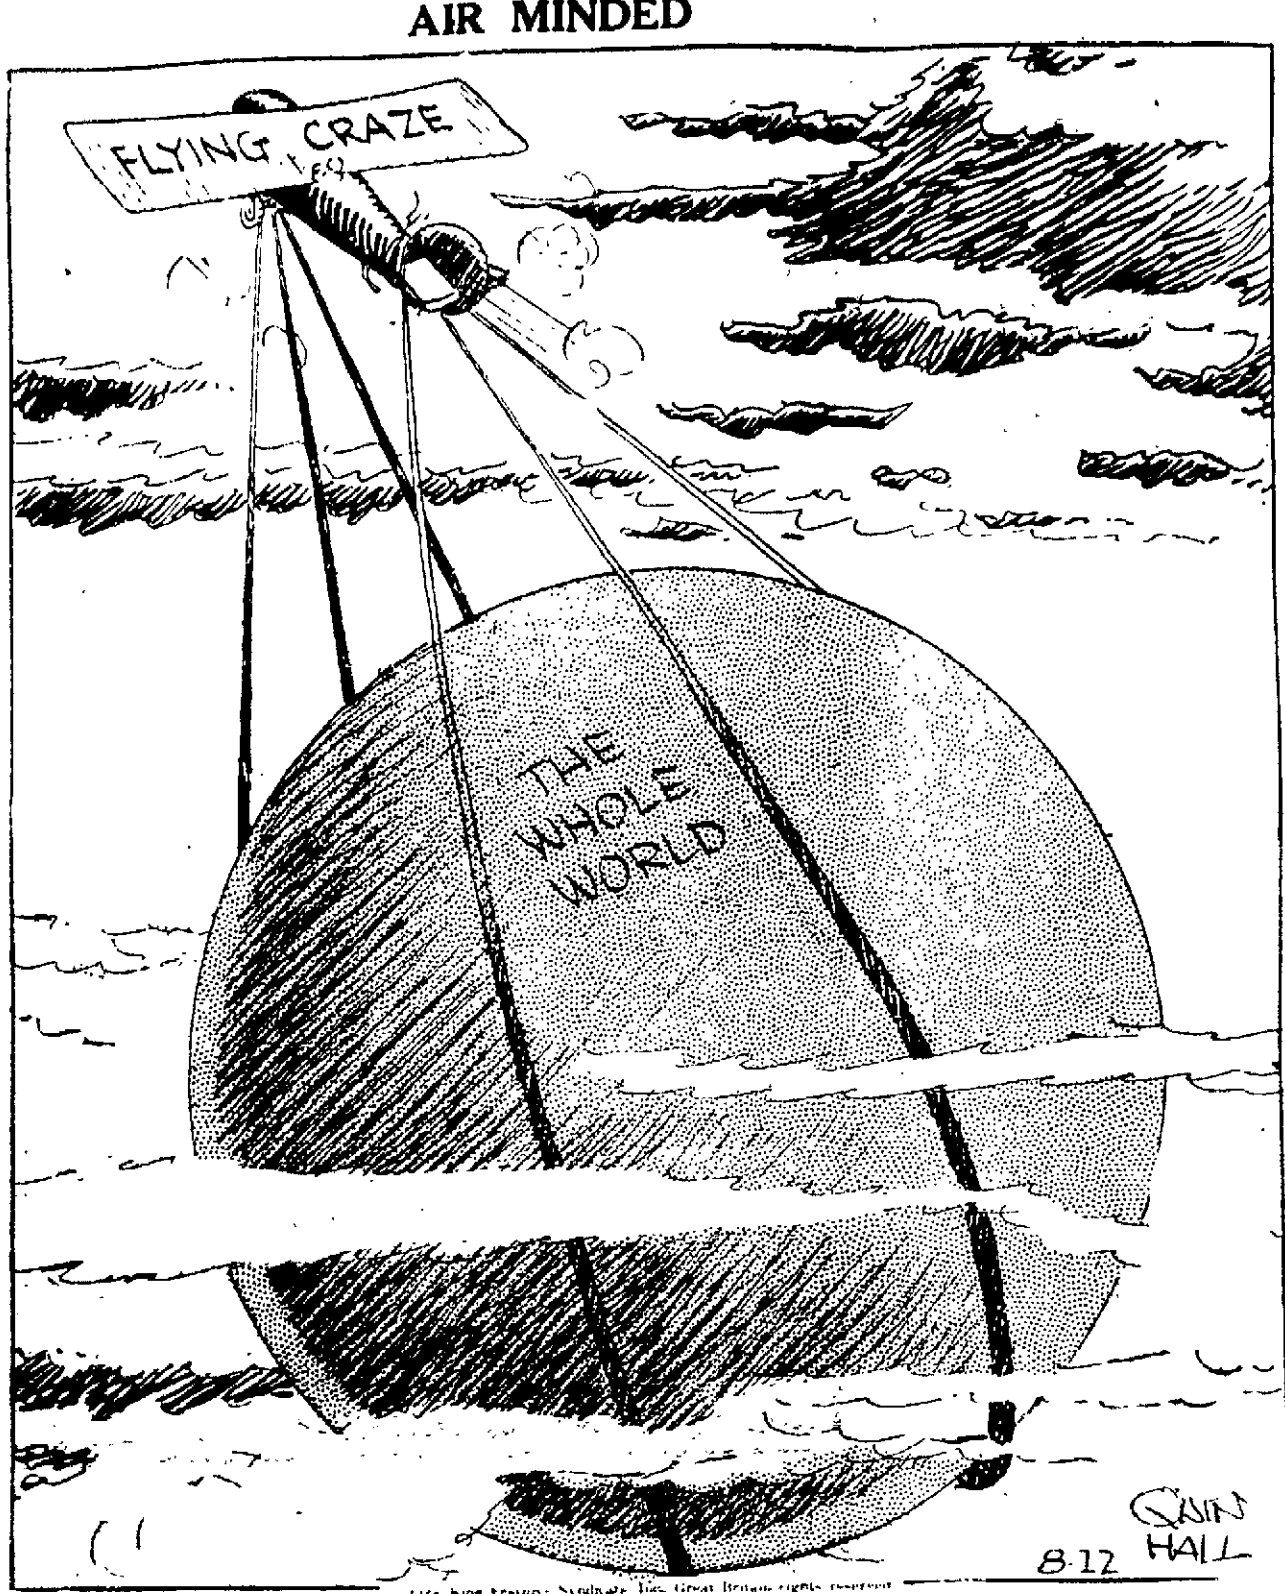

Labor and Play

"Just as much danger of overwork," said Fannie Brice, "as there is of idleness. We stop the day's labor with the whole blouse, but get no rest at all until we can be something in a four o'clock in the morning. The Union Star

The Skyscraper Murder

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just-recently-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and, while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work, assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something. As the investigators are standing, after Mrs. Sewell's departure, looking at a mirror door, it opens, and Mrs. Edison appears. She relates a story which the police do not believe. After she leaves, her lawyer threatens Marx with political reprisals if the woman is not released. Then Edison visits the apartment. As he goes out a shot is heard. The Russian valet is found dead and Edison is arrested. Mary Pennell, whose clothes are found in the apartment, is questioned. She identifies the "Paid in Full" note as her uncle's, the Major's handwriting.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII.

NOW the Major's fists were clenched.

"What is it you want?" he barked.

"Something that's exceedingly difficult to obtain in this sad world of ours," said the doctor. "I want the truth."

"If you want it badly enough," said the Major, "you can go down to the District Attorney's office and have me brought down there."

Whereupon the doctor only smiled.

"I don't think you really mean that, Major."

"No."

"No, I don't. Now come, Major—the doctor frankly pleases me. Why not tell me the facts in the case? Then you've nothing to fear. Follow the example of your niece, who—"

"What did she say?" demanded the Major quickly.

"She said," the doctor emphasized each word "that you'd warned her against Sewell."

"Suppose I did?"

"Major," the doctor changed the subject quickly, "what was that receipt for?"

"That was a debt," said the Major.

"I see. Now, Major, I'm going to show you an example in frankness. I believe, Major, that there was something that caused you to hate Sewell as much as any man did. Something that doesn't throw discredit on you."

"What are you driving at?"

"I believe, Major, that you set out to kill Sewell because you thought he'd injured your niece."

"That's bunk," fumed the Major.

"Very well then," said the doctor. "You know Sewell pretty well. Did you know there was someone living with him?"

"No," replied the Major.

"You did. Now who was that person?"

"I tell you I don't know. Hang it all, I wasn't in Sewell's confidence. I don't know what he was up to."

"You weren't in Sewell's confidence, and yet you were his associate?"

"Yes."

"You had no hatred for Sewell?"

"No."

Grammatical Error A split infinitive is one in which a verb is split by an adverb; for example, "to bravely laugh." Many authorities regard the word "to" as being so much a part of the infinitive that it cannot be separated from the verb which is introduced by it.

Signifies Beauty The name "Ruth" is derived from the Hebrew word meaning "beauty."

The Time Trap On a 50-mile road in India a tourist is given a timed strip and is forbidden to complete the journey in less than four hours.

Speed of Ostrich A full-grown male ostrich stands some eight feet high, from the crown of its head to the ground, and weighs about 200 pounds. Its speed, when running "all out," is said to attain 24 miles an hour. At such times it is generally believed to derive no small help from its wings, used as sails.

"It almost seems as if they were," was the quiet rejoinder.—London Answers.

'DON'T SUFFER FROM RHEUMATISM' SAYS LOCAL MAN

Sam Thomas Thankful To Spinago For Driving Away Rheumatic Pains.

"There is no need of anyone suffering from rheumatism when such a wonderful remedy as Spinago is available," says Sam Thomas, 70-year-old resident of 502 E. Mound St., Circleville.

Hundreds of others have called at the Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St., with similar praise for the new tonic containing Spinach which is being distributed by the Mykrantz store. Wonderful as the results of Spinago are, they are not surprising when its composition is taken into consideration. First of all, each bottle of Spinago contains the nutritive and medicinal properties of Spinach in a greater amount than is contained in many pounds of spinach. And who does not know the value of Spinach as a food? What doctor has not prescribed it in diets for many varied ailments? Besides this important basic ingredient, Spinago is made up of a carefully blended selection of the following well known and medicinally valuable roots, herbs and barks: Mandrake, cascara, sarsaparilla, dandelion, prickly ash, poke root, gentian, licorice, burdock, wild cherry and others.

SAM THOMAS

Based upon such a formula, it is not surprising that Spinago can accomplish feats which seem like miracles in driving away pain and suffering caused by rheumatism, liver, bowel, stomach and kidney complaints and other ailments. Sam Thomas, happy in the knowledge that Spinago has brought back health to him went on to say:

"For the last five years or more I suffered continually from rheumatic pains which at times became very acute indeed. It kept me from getting around, weakened my body resistance greatly and made life a miserable existence. During this whole time I took one medicine after another from drug stores and doctors, but my condition steadily grew worse and worse. I got to a place where I entirely lost my appetite, my energy and pep. I was sleepy and tired all the time and very discouraged about the future.

"Then came the day when I first tried Spinago on the recommendation of my neighbors. The first bottle did wonders for me, and after two bottles I can safely say that it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken. The rheumatic pains are all gone and I experience no more suffering. My appetite has returned as well as my energy and pep and I have a bright outlook on the future. I gratefully recommend Spinago as a boon to all sufferers from rheumatism."

Spinago is sold and guaranteed by The Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St., Circleville and by all other good drug stores in this vicinity.—Adv.

Yes, Please

The little boy had been sent to the drug store to get some liniment and a special kind of china cement. "Do you want the two things in separate parcels?" asked the druggist, as soon as he had attended to the boy's demands.

"Yes, please," answered the little fellow. "I think it would be as well. The cement is for mother; she wants to mend a teapot. The liniment is for father. Mother broke the teapot over his head."

PLAIN CITY'S CUBS DEFEAT EAGLE SQUAD

Local Nine Overcome By 9 To 1 Score In Ragged Game At Ashville.

The Circleville Eagles went down in defeat by a 9 to 1 score in a loosely played game Sunday at Ashville with the Plain City Cubs as their conquerors. After playing great ball for the past six weeks the team blew up and played ragged ball in the field and had but little punch with the bat.

The game which was scheduled to be played at Mason's field was transferred to Ashville after the rain had spoiled all chances to play here. Due to the switch in the schedule there was a small crowd on hand to witness the contest.

Boyd was on the hill for the locals and he pitched winning ball through out the game and had been afforded good support by his mates doubtless he would have won his game.

Fans must not feel too bad over the Birds set-back for it must be remembered that they are mostly young ball players on the squad and they have been playing great ball and are to be congratulated on their splendid showing thus far. Any ball team is liable to blow up for one game and this is quite frequently the case after a team has been going along at a fast clip.

STILL IN RUNNING
The defeat handed the Birds does not eliminate them in any way from the race for the pennant. The league leading Francis Dry Cleaners were also defeated Sunday by the strong Mt. Air aggregation, so our boys are still only one game out of first place. They will be back out there fighting harder than ever next Sunday said Manager Stoker and don't be surprised to see them play a bang up game. It has done them good to get a spanking and there is a shake up coming in the line-up for next Sunday's game.

Announcement has been made that all the rest of the games will be played on the Ashville diamond at Community Park. This decision was made because of the fact that the Circleville grounds is not in condition and it is almost impossible to play on the infield after a small shower. The team must play all of its games in order to have the opportunity to overtake the league leaders and since the grounds at Ashville are much better and always in shape officials have decided to make the switch.

Good Trick
Her heart reared like a frightened horse," writes an author in Woman's Home Companion. "We always thought," commented the crusty critic, "a long course of fiction reading had revealed every possible thing that a human heart can do, and here all the time it could stand up on its hind legs and we didn't know it."

Years of Experiments to Perfect Photograph
In the development of photography the first important step was the observation that certain salts were sensitive to light. In 1777 Carl Scheele, a Swedish chemist, discovered that silver chloride was blackened quickest by the violet rays of the solar spectrum and that light rays are not all alike chemically active. About 1801 Johann Ritter of Jena demonstrated the existence of nonvisible chemical rays beyond the violet rays of the spectrum. The first men to produce pictures on a sensitized surface were Thomas Wedgewood and Humphrey Davy. This they accomplished in 1802, but the pictures were not permanent. It was left to John Niepce of Chalon-sur-Saone, France, to produce permanent ones. His process was called heliography. He was joined in his experiments by Louis Daguere in 1823, and in January, 1835 they announced their discovery, the daguerreotype.

FISTIC BODY BARS GERMAN

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, who only a few weeks ago was riding on the crest of the fistic wave, seemed definitely out in the "cold" today.

For the New York athletic commission, in a formal statement yesterday, applauded the recent action of the Madison Square Garden corporation in accepting its suggestion to match Jack Sharkey with some one other than the German and regarded that the "commission and the boxing fans of New York can get along without Schmeling and those who are handling his interests, not only now but for all time."

This declaration coming on the heels of William F. Carey's statement that Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs are through forever as far as the garden is concerned seemed to place the German heavyweight definitely out of things.

War Prisoners Made Slaves

All armies sent out from Rome were accompanied by speculators in the slave trade, who bought the captives as they were put up to auction after a battle and then undertook the transport to Rome of all who were suited for employment in Italy or were not brought up in the province which was the seat of war. Fowler says: "After the campaign of Pydna and the overthrow of the Macedonian kingdom, Aemilius Paullus, one of the most humane of the Romans, sold into slavery, under orders from the senate, 150,000 free inhabitants of communities in Epirus which had sided with Perseus in the war. Caesar, like Aemilius Paullus, one of the most humane of Romans, tells us himself that on a single occasion, the capture of the aduatic, he sold 53,000 prisoners on the spot."

Stranger From Space

Scientific interest is being directed to a 35-ton formation recently discovered in southwest Africa which has all the appearances of being a meteor. It was discovered on a farm near Grootfontein and is quite different in every way from any of the rocks to be found in that part of the country. This is almost as large as the meteorite which was brought from Greenland in 1907 by Commodore Penny, and if the African find proves to be a meteor by answering certain scientific tests, it will be regarded as a very valuable find.

New Papal Secretary

Cardinal Justinian Seredi, president Apostolic Archpriest of Hungary, is reported to have been selected as the new Papal Secretary of State, succeeding Cardinal Gasparri. Cardinal Seredi is an authority on Canon law and has often been called upon to settle puzzling questions concerning it.

Dikes Long Employed

The dikes which protect the Netherlands and the German coasts of the North sea go back to the old Roman times. Apparently even before the Romans appeared the Batavians at the mouth of the Rhine protected themselves by dikes. Dursus, after the conquest of Holland, 10 B. C., built an elaborate system of artificial canals and dikes. Pliny the Elder gives an interesting description of the artificial hills which were erected as places of refuge during floods.

True to Form

An old actor-manager died, or at least his relatives thought he had died, and arrangements were made for the funeral.

On the appointed day one of his old colleagues arrived to pay his last respects, but to his astonishment, the would-be mourner was informed that "deceased" had come to life after a period of coma. "Just like Bill," said the visitor; "he was always a terror for rehearsal."

Bird Foster Mothers

The bob white is now being bred successfully at a number of experiment stations, notably at the state game farm in Virginia. The quail eggs are set under bantam hens, which take good care of the little wild birds when hatched.

TWO GAMES AHEAD IN LEAGUE TONIGHT

There will be two games played in the Recreation baseball league Monday evening.

At the Utilities Park the Coca Colas will stage a battle with the Pettit Tires. Although the Tires have suffered defeats several times no one can tell how they will do tonight.

At Mason's park the Lutheran Brotherhood, who have been roaring like lions and defeating every one they meet, will meet once more with their most worthy opponents the Circleville Merchants. Both of these games promise to be close and exciting.

Laws of New England Harsh on Malefactor

The children of the early days in New England did not learn the letters of the alphabet in such simple fashion as "A stands for Apple and B stands for Bull." But letters sometimes were used to mark the transgressor.

Lack of chastity was indicated in the scarlet A which Hester Prynne wore. The drunkard could be and was disgraced, and must "wear about his neck and so as to hang above his outer garment a D made of red cloth and set upon white, and to continue it a year and not to leave it off when he comes among company."

The letter B did not escape being a mark of ignominy. "Any person who committed burglary by breaking up any dwelling house, or shall rob any person in the field or highways, such a person, so offending shall for the first offence be branded on the forehead with the letter B; a second time a second B, and for a third time be put to death. If the offense is committed on the Lord's Day, for the first offence he shall have one ear cut off; the second ear for the second offence, and be put to death for the third offence."

DRINKING AT WAYSIDE SPRINGS DANGEROUS
Dr. Copeland Urges Vacationists to Use Discretion in Drinking Unsupervised Water, Pointing Out the Dangers of Typhoid and Malaria.
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.
VACATIONS are joyful periods, but they may be dangerous, too. Watch the papers after Labor Day and see what numbers of typhoid fever cases develop. The home water supplies are properly supervised, but wayside springs and streams may be teeming with the germs of disease. Vacationists are careless and some of them will pick up typhoid.
Years ago the well-to-do residents of districts where malaria abounded, used to go to the seashore or the mountains at the season when it prevailed. They did this to escape the "miasm," the poisoned air, which they believed was responsible for the disease.
When I was a boy they knew that the swamps and low lands were dangerous. But they didn't know the real reason. In my boyhood, I heard a famous physician say that the "malarious air" cannot rise above fifty feet. He advised building homes on elevated spots so to escape malaria.
Now we know that it is the mosquito, a certain type of mosquito that conveys malaria. The ancients recognized that marsh lands bred the disease, but overlooked the fact that the mosquitoes which breed there are the real offenders.
A person who has the parasites of malaria in his blood, is bitten by a mosquito. The organisms are taken into the body of the mosquito. Certain changes take place, preparing the poison so it will thrive in the salivary glands of the insect. This process takes a couple of weeks.
The inoculated mosquito is now prepared to pass on to well human beings the organisms which have developed in the manner I have explained. This insect bites its unfortunate victim. A portion of the infected saliva is injected into the skin.
The organisms which are introduced into the body attack the red corpuscles of the blood. Here new organisms develop and poisons are generated. It is not long before the corpuscles are destroyed. Then the young parasites and the poisons get into the blood stream. A violent chill is the first sign of trouble.
The infected person is now ready to act as a carrier, to inoculate other mosquitoes. They pass it on to their human neighbors and pretty soon the entire community has malaria. We have learned how to escape malaria. By draining the swamps and screening our homes we do not get somebody else's malaria. Likewise if one of us happens to be a carrier of malaria, the mosquitoes are not there to pass it on to others of the family or in the neighborhood.
Malaria is practically unknown today in well-ordered communities. Each of us must do his part to wipe out the breeding places of an insect that can do great harm if inoculated with the organisms of the disease.

Peculiar Mill Stones
Before England became an industrial country, when the villagers were self-sufficient, mill stones were used by the villagers to grind their corn. A remarkable feature of the stones was that the surface of the lower stone was carved with a fixed harp pattern of hollows and ridges, disposed in a certain direction between the axle and the perimeter of the stone, so as to obtain uniformity of grinding and regulate the flow of flour to the edge.—Detroit News.

Snake Unjustly Condemned
It is commonly believed that the small snake known as the puffing adder blows poisonous powder or spray from its mouth. Frequently reports are published that persons have been injured seriously by venomous spray spat into their faces by these serpents. The breath of the puffing adder, it is said, will kill a person at a distance of 25 feet. All this is fancy, pure and simple. The puffing adder is perfectly harmless. According to the United States biological survey, the snake's teeth are too short to inflict a wound even if it did strike a person.—Detroit News.

DO NOT SUFFER FROM RHEUMATISM SAYS LOCAL MAN

Sam Thomas Thankful To Spinozo For Driving Away Rheumatic Pains.

There is no need of anyone suffering from rheumatism when a wonderful remedy as Spinozo is available," says Sam Thomas, 70-year-old resident of E. Mount St., Circleville. Hundreds of others have called the Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 Court St., with similar praise for the new tonic containing Spinozo which is being distributed by the Mykrantz store. Wonderful as the results of Spinozo are, they are not surprising when its composition is taken into consideration. First of all, each bottle of Spinozo contains the nutritive and medicinal properties of Spinach in a greater amount than is contained in many pounds of spinach. And who does not know the value of Spinach as a food? What doctor has not prescribed it in diets for many of the varied ailments? Besides this important basic ingredient, Spinozo is made up of a carefully selected selection of the most valuable roots, herbs and berries: Mandrake, cascara, sarsaparilla, dandelion, prickly ash, root, gentian, licorice, burdock, wild cherry and others.

SAM THOMAS
Based upon such a formula, it is not surprising that Spinozo can accomplish feats which seem like miracles in driving away pain and suffering caused by rheumatism, liver, bowel, stomach and kidney complaints and other ailments. Sam Thomas, happy in the knowledge that Spinozo has brought back health to him went on to say:

"For the last five years or more I suffered continually from rheumatic pains which at times became very acute indeed. It kept me from getting around, weakened my body's resistance greatly and made life a miserable existence. During this whole time I took one medicine after another from drug stores and doctors, but my condition steadily grew worse and worse. I got to a place where I entirely lost my appetite, my energy and pep. I was sleepy and tired all the time and very discouraged about the future.

"Then came the day when I first tried Spinozo on the recommendation of my neighbors. The first bottle did wonders for me, and after two bottles I can safely say that it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken. The rheumatic pains are all gone and I experience no more suffering. My appetite has returned as well as my energy and pep and I have a bright outlook on the future. I gratefully recommend Spinozo as a boon to all sufferers from rheumatism."

Spinozo is sold and guaranteed by The Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St., Circleville and by all other good drug stores in this vicinity.—Adv.

Yes, Please
The little boy had been sent to the drug store to get some liniment and a special kind of china cement. "Do you want the two things in separate parcels?" asked the drug-gist, as soon as he had attended to the boy's demands. "Yes, please," answered the little fellow. "I think it would be as well. The cement is for mother; she wants to mend a teapot. The liniment is for father. Mother broke the teapot over his head."

PLAIN CITY'S CUBS DEFEAT EAGLE SQUAD

Local Nine Overcome By 9 To 1 Score In Ragged Game At Ashville.

The Circleville Eagles went down in defeat by a 9 to 1 score in a loosely played game Sunday at Ashville with the Plain City Cubs as their conquerors. After playing great ball for the past six weeks the team blew up and played ragged ball in the field and had but little punch with the bat. The game which was scheduled to be played at Mason's field was transferred to Ashville after the rain had spoiled all chances to play here. Due to the switch in the schedule there was a small crowd on hand to witness the contest.

Boyd was on the hill for the locals and he pitched winning ball through out the game and had been afforded good support by his mates doubtless he would have won his game. Fans must not feel too bad over the Birds set-back for it must be remembered that they are mostly young ball players on the squad and they have been playing great ball and are to be congratulated on their splendid showing thus far. Any ball team is liable to blow up for one game and this is quite frequently the case after a team has been going along at a fast clip.

STILL IN RUNNING
The defeat handed the Birds does not eliminate them in any way from the race for the pennant. The league leading Francis Dry Cleaners were also defeated Sunday by the strong Mt. Air aggregation, so our boys are still only one game out of first place. They will be back out there fighting harder than ever next Sunday said Manager Stoker and don't be surprised to see them play a bang up game. It has done them good to get a spanking and there is a shake up coming in the line-up for next Sunday's game.

Announcement has been made that all the rest of the games will be played on the Ashville diamond at Community Park. This decision was made because of the fact that the Circleville grounds is not in condition and it is almost impossible to play on the infield after a small shower. The team must play all of its games in order to have the opportunity to overtake the league leaders and since the grounds at Ashville are much better and always in shape officials have decided to make the switch.

FISTIC BODY BARS GERMAN

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(INS)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, who only a few weeks ago was riding on the crest of the fistic wave, seemed definitely out in the "cold" today.

For the New York athletic commission, in a formal statement yesterday, applauded the recent action of the Madison Square Garden corporation in accepting its suggestion to match Jack Sharkey with some one other than the German and regarded that the "commission and the boxing fans of New York can get along without Schmeling and those who are handling his interests, not only now but for all time."

This declaration coming on the heels of William F. Carey's statement that Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs are through forever as far as the garden is concerned seemed to place the German heavyweight definitely out of things.

War Prisoners Made Slaves

All armies sent out from Rome were accompanied by speculators in the slave trade, who bought the captives as they were put up to auction after a battle and then undertook the transport to Rome of all who were suited for employment in Italy or were not brought up in the province which was the seat of war. Fowler says: "After the campaign of Pydna and the overthrow of the Macedonian kingdom, Aemilius Paulus, one of the most humane of the Romans, sold into slavery, under orders from the senate, 150,000 free inhabitants of communities in Epirus which had sided with Persians in the war Caesar, like Aemilius Paulus, one of the most humane of Romans, tells us himself that on a single occasion, the capture of the Adriatic, he sold 63,000 prisoners on the spot."

Stranger From Space

Scientific interest is being directed to a 35-ton formation recently discovered in southwest Africa which has all the appearances of being a meteor. It was discovered on a farm near Grootfontein and is quite different in every way from any of the rocks to be found in that part of the country. This is almost as large as the meteorite which was brought from Greenland in 1907 by Commodore Peary, and if the African find proves to be a meteor by answering certain scientific tests, it will be regarded as a very valuable find.

Years of Experiments to Perfect Photograph

In the development of photography the first important step was the observation that certain salts were sensitive to light. In 1777 Carl Scheele, a Swedish chemist, discovered that silver chloride was blackened quickest by the violet rays of the solar spectrum and that light rays are not all alike chemically active. About 1801 Johann Ritter of Jena demonstrated the existence of nonvisible chemical rays beyond the violet rays of the spectrum. The first man to produce pictures on a sensitized surface were Thomas Wedgwood and Humphrey Davy. This they accomplished in 1802, but the pictures were not permanent. It was left to John Niepce of Chalon-sur-Saone, France, to produce permanent ones. His process was called heliography. He was joined in his experiments by Louis J. M. Niepce in 1825, and in January, 1835 they announced their discovery, the daguerreotype.

Good Trick

Her heart reared like a frightened horse," writes an author in Woman's Home Companion. "We always thought," commented the crusty critic, "a long course of fiction reading had revealed every possible thing that a human heart can do, and here all the time it could stand up on its hind legs and we didn't know it."

New Papal Secretary

Cardinal Justinian Sereci, present Apostolic Archpriest of Hungary, is reported to have been selected as the new Papal Secretary of State, succeeding Cardinal Gasparri. Cardinal Sereci is an authority on Canon law and has often been called upon to settle puzzling questions concerning it.

Dikes Long Employed

The dikes which protect the Netherlands and the German coasts of the North sea go back to the old Roman times. Apparently even before the Romans appeared the Batavians at the mouth of the Rhine protected themselves by dikes. Dursus, after the conquest of Holland, 10 B. C., built an elaborate system of artificial canals and dikes. Pliny the Elder gives an interesting description of the artificial hills which were erected as places of refuge during floods.

True to Form

An old actor-manager died, or at least his relatives thought he had died, and arrangements were made for the funeral.

On the appointed day one of his old colleagues arrived to pay his last respects, but to his astonishment, the would-be mourner was informed that "deceased" had come to life after a period of coma. "Just like Bill," said the visitor: "he was always a terror for rehearsals."

Bird Foster Mothers

The bob white is now being bred successfully at a number of experiment stations, notably at the state game farm in Virginia. The quail eggs are set under bantam hens, which take good care of the little wild birds when hatched.

TWO GAMES AHEAD IN LEAGUE TONIGHT

There will be two games played in the Recreation baseball league Monday evening.

At the Utilities Park the Coca Cola will stage a battle with the Pettit Tires. Although the Tires have suffered defeats several times no one can tell how they will do tonight.

At Mason's park the Lutheran Brotherhood, who have been roaring like lions and defeating every one they meet, will meet once more with their most worthy opponents the Circleville Merchants. Both of these games promise to be close and exciting.

Laws of New England

Harsh on Malefactors

The children of the early days in New England did not learn the letters of the alphabet in such simple fashion as "A stands for Apple, and B stands for Bull." But letters sometimes were used to mark the transgressor.

Lack of chastity was indicated in the scarlet A which Hester Prynne wore. The drunkard could be and was disgraced, and must "wear about his neck and so as to hang above his outer garment a D made of red cloth and set upon white, and to continue it a year and not to leave it off when he comes among company."

The letter B did not escape being a mark of ignominy. "Any person who committed burglary by breaking up any dwelling house, or shall rob any person in the field or highways, such a person so offending shall for the first offense, be branded on the forehead with the letter B; a second time a second B, and for a third time be put to death. If the offense is committed on the Lord's Day, for the first offense he shall have one ear cut off; the second ear for the second offense, and be put to death for the third offense."
